A place where people remember

Seeing the embodiment of happiness
Soul healing

I noticed that some benches had bronze plaques with words of remembrance written on them, which felt very ~~mean~~ meaningful.

At the same time, I saw two ladies sitting on this bench with a bouquet of roses. They looked serious, sometimes talking with their heads down, and sometimes looking at the distant scenery... After they left, I saw that they left such a note. I think this man named David is very important to them, maybe a husband, a father or a friend. In short, at that moment, this viewpoint witnessed the moment of love and being loved between them. ♥
